A brief of history

Heritage Palace Varoš is located right in the heart of Charming old neighbourhood of Varoš, originally founded by farmhands and fishermen in the late 17th century.

A maze of pedestrian streets wind around several significant churches and up Marjan Hill. This charismatic neighborhood takes more after an island village with traditional Dalmatian rural-like stone houses, narrow lanes, and scattered churches. On ulica Sv Kriza is the parish Church of St Cross (sv Kriz) built in 1681 to replace an earlier church. The bulb-like cupola on top of the baroque bell tower makes the church easy to spot and right after its is where we are.

Famous Croatian TV series, Naše malo misto and Velo misto (based on the script by Miljenko Smoje, a writer, journalist, and the legendary chronicler of Dalmatian life, traditions a memorable characters) were filmed at the property.

About Split

The story of Split is already 17 centuries old, dating to the time the Roman Emperor Diocletian decided to build his Palace right on the peninsula near the great Roman city Salona, where he wanted to spend the last years of his life.

During these 1700 years the Palace slowly turned into a city, which to this day lures with its rich tradition, glorious history and beauty of its natural and cultural heritage, Diocletian Palace and the entire historical core of Split have been on the World Heritage UNESCO list ever since 1979, and not only for the extraordinary preservation of the Palace, but also because the Palace and its city (or the city and its Palace, if you like) continue to live a full life.
